In 1972, Robert Kersten ran for "King of Campus" instead of Student Body President, with running mate UnCandidate the Cat, and won.

Rev. Julius Nieuwland, C.S.C., Notre Dame chemist, professor, and botany lover, was known for his frequent plant collecting excursions. Finding it improper to crawl through the woods in his cassock, he would shoot down his specimens with a .22 caliber rifle.

George Gipp was a powerhouse on both ends of the field from 1917-1920, and was named Notre Dame's first All-American in 1920. He led the Irish in passing and rushing for three consecutive seasons, rushed for an amazing 2,341 yards on offense, and as a defensive back, never allowed a single completion.

Clashmore Mike, an Irish terrier, was the original mascot of the Irish. A gift to Knute Rockne, he was introduced in 1930.

Notre Dame's Alumni Association first established the Alumni Senior Club in 1969 at the McLamara house which sat at this location. In 1982, the house was torn down and replaced by the Alumni Senior Club, the same building that stands here today. For 33 years, the Alumni Senior Club provided Notre Dame seniors and alumni a gathering place and in 2003 it was transformed into Legends of Notre Dame.

Lou Holtz was head football coach from 1986-1996. He led the Irish to 9 straight New Years Day bowl games and the 1988 national championship. With a record of 100-32-2, he holds the Irish record for most games coached and is second to Knute Rockne in total victories. Legend has it that Coach Holtz's favorite food is a grilled cheese sandwich.

Beloved rector of Corby, Walsh and Sorin, Rev. John "Pop" Farley, C.S.C. earned his nickname by referring to his residents as his "boys." A strong disciplinarian, he was famous for patrolling South Bend streets in the University "Skive Wagon" and chasing down troublemakers on campus. Farley was also known to never miss one of his student's sporting or social events, even in failing health.

Legends of Notre Dame is University owned and operated. All proceeds from the restaurant and alehouse pub are used to support positive social programming for Notre Dame students here at Legends. Students enjoy free live entertainment and nightclub dancing every Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night during the academic year.
